CraftWork
Ruby on Rails Application
By EmerThornbury

This application allows admin person of a craft studio to login and set up the work for the coming days for employees.

Users and employees are set up in the application.

Products can be set up in the application.

The different phases that the product goes through can also be set up.

Then Workphases can be created with the required number of a product in a specified phase.

Staff can then login and search for a phase and see what quantity of each product is required and update the totals when completed.

Created in Cloud9 and deployed via Heroku using Github version control.

This is only the start of an idea.
